

Change in traditional to western silhoutte

By:- Nilanshi Rastogi

Change in traditional to western silhouette

- Before 8 years in India women's generally use to wear fitted blouse and ghagra (ghagra choli) but as now time is changing, women use to wear dresses instead of fitted blouse and ghagra.
- The attire which attracted a lot of buyers in world wide is a Gore dress (western silhouette).
- We have decided to make a Gore dress into a desi flavour that will increase its beauty.
- In that we have used indigo block prints which are famous for Rajasthan culture .
- The block prints which we have used in it is Ajrakh, Dabu and Lehariya.
- They are mainly famous textile of Rajasthan.
- People in Rajasthan generally use colorful shades , mirror work and pompoms for their clothes
- As we have to make a dress we decided to take dark color indigo which looks good as a western dress.
- And while doing this we haven't forget about Rajasthan and Indian flair.
- To give the dress a little twist we have added a beautiful colorful pom-pom corset that truly represent different colors of colorful Rajasthan.

